EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note does not form part of the Ordinance)

Introduction

1. This explanatory note relates to the Motor Vehicles (Professional Driving Licences) Ordinance 2010 (the “Ordinance”). It has been prepared by the Office of the Attorney General and Legal Adviser in order to assist the reader of the Ordinance. It does not form part of the Ordinance.
2. The note should be read in conjunction with the Ordinance. It is not, and is not meant to be, a comprehensive description of the Ordinance. So when a section or part of a section does not seem to require any explanation or comment, none is given.

Particular points

3. The Ordinance gives effect to the Republican Professional Licence to Drive Law of 1989 (Law 225(I)/1989) (the “corresponding Republican Law”) within the Areas.
4. The Ordinance imposes a requirement that the drivers of particular types of vehicle must have a recognised professional driving licence, which is in addition to the driving licence which must be held under the Motor Vehicles and Road Traffic (Driver Licensing) Regulations 2009. A recognised professional driving licence is one which has been issued under the corresponding Republican Law.
5. In the context of the Ordinance the expression “motor vehicle” has a narrow meaning and means a type A1, A2, L or T motor vehicle as defined in section 2(2). The provisions of this Ordinance do not apply to other motor vehicles.
6. The requirement to hold a professional driving licence does not apply to the drivers of vehicles being driven on behalf of the Crown. Neither does it apply to a person who needs to drive a motor vehicle for the purposes of maintenance and repair provided that motor vehicle is not carrying passengers.
7. A police officer may stop a motor vehicle and may require the driver to produce his or her professional driving licence. A police officer may also enter the premises of a transport undertaking for the purpose of enforcing the Ordinance. Republican officials also have powers to ensure compliance with the Ordinance. However, before exercising powers to stop a vehicle or to enter premises Republican officials must first consult the Chief Constable.
